

7 ways IDVT helps with Right to Work checks.

Challenge

Solution

Your Right to Work checks are made by recruiting staff in different locations.

A straightforward App helps staff make quick checks from anywhere.

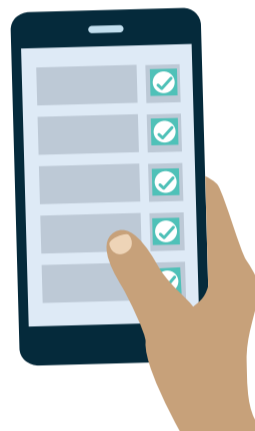

You need to get new starters up and running quickly.

The service confirms Right to Work status within minutes and always within 2 hours.*

You need to know which documents to ask for to make sure you're compliant.

Our App has a built-in wizard to ensure that you're always seeing the correct documents.

You want to be confident that the documents you're seeing are genuine and that candidates presenting them are who they say they are.

Our service checks the validity of documents and assesses their authenticity. Our expert helpdesk team are also on hand to offer advice if you see anything suspicious.

You want to ensure a consistent process, no matter who makes the checks.

Our service walks staff through a simple and intuitive process meaning that everyone is following the same guidelines.

You want proof that you've carried out Right to Work checks to support the Statutory Excuse.

The service produces a Right to Work report showing time, date and who made the checks for easy storage in your HR files.

You want to be sure about any restrictions an employee may have.

Our service confirms any restrictions and lets you know the date that you need to make any follow-up checks.
